ECOTURISMO

BORUGO Ltda. is a company dedicated to tourism operation, established in the Trapecio Amazonico zone, common border between Colombia, Brazil and Peru. We are located in Leticia, only an hour and forty five minute flight away from Bogotá, Colombia.

Our objective is for tourists to learn about the beauty of the jungle through an ecological tour; we also offer adventourism and specialized tourism.

We are able to operate in several places in the three countries, such as:

- The best ecohotels of the zone, with good lodging, food and service.
- Indian reserves where guests can enjoy a good maloca, the ritual preparation of coca and great stories told by the tribe chief.
- Cruising through the Amazon River, stopping at very interesting places.
- Best cooking of the zone.

At those places we offer hiking, canoe paddling, fishing, canopying, bird watching, interesting topic discussions or, if you prefer, you can just simply relax.

Jungle myths

The zone is insecure: Actually, the Leticia surroundings are safer than the best ecotourism destinations.

See Lonely Planet:

www.lonelyplanet.com/destinations/south_america/colombia/

The fauna is dangerous: The famous piranhas prefer cold flesh and fruit, the most lethal serpent of South America is not present in the zone, and the mosquitoes are the same as in other open tropical fields.

The ride is uncomfortable: Any trip may seem like a dream depending with whom and where you go. Be ready to travel for adventure; Borugo Ltda. will take charge of your well-being.
